Guiteau's case will not be heard for two weeks. Charles H. Reed will appear for the assassin, and at this, the wretched blaggart seems to be well pleased.

Miss Fannie S. Everett, who has been postmistress at West Foxborough, Mass., for 51 years, is now 84 years old, and has been recently stricken with paralysis.

That historic "shining lance," which Mr. Blaine can use with such consummate skill, was brought into use before the Shipherd investigating committee, and Shipherd keenly felt the thrust.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, is au thority for the statement that Frank James is safer in Clay county, Missouri than Governor Crittenden is in Jefferson county. While this is a sigular confession and will probably strike people with amazement, it is no doubt a true statement of the condition of things in Missouri.

The Beloit Free Press has been enlarged to five columns. The Free Press is a well managed and spicy daily, and the Gazette is glad to learn that its increasing business has compelled it to inflate itself. Hobart & Ingersoll deserve all the success they have won in Bublishing the Daily Free Press.

It is alleged that there is "trimming' already for 1884. One of the first papers to bring out a candidate is the Waukegan Gazette, which places Blaine at the head of its columns. This does not meet with the approval of the Chicago Journal, which thinks that Illinois will have a candidate in the person of General Lo-

Mr. Blaine talks of going to Europe for his health. Fer the past twenty-five years he has been one of the most active men in the United States, and his nervous system being much unstrung, and the rheumatic gout giving him much trouble, he thinks of seeking rest and health abroad.

The Milwaukee Sentinel has put on its spring's suit in which it presents a fine' appearance. It was supposed a few' months ago that the days of the Sentinel were numbered, but it keeps right on banging away at everything worth hitting publishing a good deal of news, and dresses up as well as the best of them. Its failure is not a success.

Wednesday, the 26th, will be the sixty-third anniversary of the introduction of Odd Fellowship in America. That day will be celebrated in a more or less imposing manner, in the chief cities of the country. Racine will have the largest demonstration of any city in the State. A great many lodges will be present, and the exercises will be of an imposing character.

A portrait of Dred Scott, the slave who was made famous by his connection with a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, which returned him to slavery, has been presented to the Missouri Historical Society by Mrs. Theodore Barnum, who purchased Scott's freedom. One strange feature about it is that it hangs upon the wall beside the portrait of Thomas H. Benton.

The contest in Iowa over the prohibitory amendment will undoubtedly be settled in favor of the amendment. The brewers in that State held a convention and agreed to make the question a political one, and to force the Republican party to take one side or the other. If that is the scheme of the brewers of Iowa they must accept the situation. When they make threats and undertake to force the party to show its colors, the Republicans of Iowa will not be slow in deciding what course to take. It will draw out a full Republican vote, and when that vote is drawn out, it will mean something, and down will go the brewers.

The Milwaukee Republican says that when Governor Crittenden, of Misouri, heard that Jesse James was said there would a rise in the value of real tate in Missouri. But now comes the report that Frank James has put himself at the head of a movement which has for its object the extermination of all whose names are associated with the death of his brother. When this news reached the New York Post, that paper road in Iowa is 25,000 acres in excess of its maximum grant. The Winona & St. of real estate in Missouri are not quite so good as the Governor thought they estimated that the actual are to which it were after Mr. James had been killed. was entitled was 710,000 acres. A day or two ago there appeared in the Milwaukee Sentinel a special from Madison, giving the information that State Senator Burrows, of Dane, would be a candidate for Congress, while his opponents would probably support Mr. Keyes or Frank Oakley. But a special to the Milwaukee Republican say that these representations are not in accord with the general understanding at Madison, and concludes: "Mr. Burrows has been elected three times in succession to the State Senate, and at the last, as at previous ses. sions of the Legislature, was eminently successful in securing the passage of all the local legislation in which he was interested. In this respect no member was sion here is that he was never more pop- opposition.

Shipherd begins to feel as if he want- | ular than now. The report that he is a candidate for the nomination to Congress is at least premature. He has been frequently mentioned in that connection, and has received strong assurances of support from all parts of his district, but has come to no definite conclusion. He is at least no more a candidate, as yet, Early last week he contracted a severe than Mr. Keyes or Major Oakley, and his relations with the latter are such that there is no likelihood of their being opposing candidates for the nomination."

THE EAU CLAIRE FIRE.

Special to the Gazete.

EAU CLAIRE, April 25 .- By the fire yes terday, sixty-three buildings were des troyed, and fifty business houses were burned out. The loss is placed at one quarter of a million dollars. The streets are thronged with thousands of people viewing the ruins.

EAU CLAIRE, April 24.-A fire this evening broke out in Kennedy's barn, in the rear of the Pioneer Block, caused by a spark from the steamboat Minnie Herman, which destroyed the Pioneer Block, valued at $25,000 and sixty-three business and private buildings. Total loss, $250,-000, probably covered by one-half that amount by insurance. The Empire Lumber Company and Carbon Bro's, hardware store are the heaviest losers. The entire west side business places are a mass of ruins. The na mes of the insurance compames cannot be ascertained.

HURLBUT'S REMAINS.

Special to the Gazette. New York, April 25 .- The remains of General Hurlbut, late Minister to Peru, accompanied by the family, arrived on the steamship Colon, to-day, from Aspinwall. No friends or officials met them at the wharf to pay their respects; and the captain of the Colon neglected to place the flag at half mast. The body was taken to the undertakers. It will be taken to Belvidere, Illinois, for burial.

STARTLING FIGURES.

Washington, April 24.—Assistant law clerk of the general land office makes an interesting statement about the manner in which land grant railroads have been treated by the interior department. The Cedar Rapids & Missouri river railroad is a complete road under grants available for its construction. The grant was six sections per mile or 1,042,944 acres; but the amount of and actually certified and patented under the grant is 1,141,600 acres or 98,746 acres more than the greatest possible amount that could rightfully be embraced in the grant, for fifty-six and one-sixth miles of road, the Sioux City & St. Paul road of Iowa, was entitled to 359,520 acres at the utmost, but 407. 910 acres have been certitied and patented to it. The St.Paul & Sioux City road, of Minnesota, was entit-led to 850,000 acres, but has received 1,-203,580. The St. Paul & Pacific road, in Minnesota, has also received an excess of the maximum area of its grant. The area given to the Iowa Falls & Sloux City Peter's company is credited with a nominal area of 1,410,000 acres. and it was been given much more land than they ried on its business, and the disadvantage to settlers.

BRAGG'S AMENDMENT.

Washington, April 24—General Bragg received a dispatch this morning strongly recommending the amendments which he proposes to attach to the river and harbor bill, providing that a portion of the Fox and Wisconsin river appropriation should be used to lower the dams at Appleton and Neenah so to prevent the overflow of Lake Winnebago. The dispatch also announces that Governor Rusk, Attorney General Frisby and a delegation from Oshkosh and Fond du Lac would arrive here next week. General Bragg says the amendment will be adopted. It is acceptable to Senator He had such a lame back that he could sawyer and Mr. Guenther, and being of do nothing; but one bottle entirely cured more fortunate, and the general impres- itself a local matter, can meet with no him.

WALDO EMERSON.

Boston, April 24.-The venerable philosopher, Ralph Waldo Emerson, is confined to his residence in Concord by a severe attack of pneumonia, and fears are entertained that he may not recover. cold, from which he has suffered ever since, and on Saturday his attendant physician, his son, Dr. Edward Emerson, pronounced it a case of pneumonia. The disease at present is not of a type calculated to excite apprehensions in the case of a younger man, but Mr. Emerson is nearly 79 years of age, and this fact, coupled with the considerable time he has suffered from his ailment, causes his friends to express themselves as beleiving the chances to be decidedly against him. There has been no change in his condition since Sunday, and to-day Mr. Emerson is resting as quietly as could be expected. No immediate change for the worse is looked for and should none come before the end of the week probabilities of recovery will be much greater. The philosopher is practically confined to his bed, although he sits up at brief intervals during the day. The fact of his illness has been kept very quiet, and few of his towns people are aware of its character or that he is ill at all. Mr. Emerson has been quite well this winter, and his figure has been quite a familiar one in the streets of this city. He was present at Longfellow's funeral, and accompanied his body to the grave.

STEAMER BURNED.

Jacksonville, Florida, April 24.—The steamer City of Sanford, on her way here from Sanford, took fire about four o'clock this morning and nine persons-probably more-perished.

The steamer George Bird, coming down the river a few miles ahead of the Sanford, put back and brought the survivors here. The steamer and its con-tents are a total loss. Nothing whatever

STRONG AND THE SANTA FE.

Chicage, April 25.-Mr. W. B. Strong President of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad company, returned to this city from the West yesterday, where he has been attending the annual meetings of the company and making a tour of inspection over its line. Mr. Strong stated to a Tribune reporter that the prospects of his road were never more flattering than at present. The crops in Kansas promise an extraordinary yield. The wheat in the Southern part of the State is now heading, and the farmers expect to be able to harvest about May 25. The reports that grasshoppers has made their appearance in Kansas, Mr. Strong says, are false in respect, as there is no trace of grasshoppers anywhere, and he thinks the reports were started for the purpose of helping the "bears." No new construction is now going on, Mr. Strong says, except the work on the Atlantic & Pacific, which is being pushed as rapidly as possible to the Colorado River, where connection is made with an extension of the Southern Pacific now in course of construction; and the work on the road through Mexico to Guaymas on the Gulf of California. The latter, Mr. Strong thinks, will be completed by next fall. Mr. Strong also stated that his road is now in excellent condition. The entire line, with the exception of a few miles, has been laid with steel rails and the rolling-stock has been largely augmented and improved.

WISCONSIN MATTERS.

Madison, April 24.—Dr. Reed, Prof. Wright and Mrs. Fairbanks, special committee of the State Board of Charities and Reform to visit the county msane asylums of the State, returned to-day. At present five counties are caring for their chronic insane and eight others are preparing to do so.

Governor Rusk and Attorney General Frisby have returned from their visit to the overflowed district in the base of Lake Winnebago. In their opinion both the Appleton and Menasha dams should be lowered, particularly the former, the backwater from which necessitates the rising of the Menasha dam. The two officials go to Washington this week to seek relief for the Winnebago people by the lowering of the Government dams at Appleton.

PRIVATEERING.

Operations During the Eighteenth Century on the High Seas.

In former days the treasure-ships belonged to the enemy until they became ours by capture; in the present age the treasure and the ships that carry it are English, and it is difficult to picture the consternation in the city on hearing of the loss of some steamer bringing home-ward a rich freight of diamonds from the Cape, or of gold from Australia. But as we hung steadfastly to the right of making prize of the Spanish plateship, it is not to be expected that any enemy which fate may now send us will waive his claim to the English steamers, if only he has the power to assert it; and against that it behooves us to be on our guard. It seems, however, probable that, under the existing rules of the Declaration of Paris, but few large prizes will be made, such as founded many a fortune in the last or earlier centuries, when international scruples did not exist, and naval opinion was absolutely single as to the advisability and even necessity of making captures and sharing them out among the captors.

This opinion, rooted in the "custom" of the sea, was as old as the English nation, and had descended from the days of Hengist and Horsa, of Harry Page—the Arripay of the French chroniclers—of Drake, or Frobisher, or Lancaster, seamen of to-day, like fairy tales of childhood, too good to be true; but from a strictly naval point of view they have their dark side; and it is very certain that of the quarrels between senior officers which so often disgraced our service, a great number were due, directly or indirectly, to the natural but unchivalrous desire of making money. The bitter feud between Rodney and Arbuthnot, on the coast of North America, in 1780, was one of these. The friendly relations between Lords St. Vincent and Nelson, which led to such glorious results, were interrupted by a lawsuit on their rival claims for prize money; and the ill feeling which Nelson and Sir John Orde entertained for each other was at least strengthened by pecuniary considerations. Lord Howe's conduct on the "1st of June" was angrily criticised by many, as though he might have rendered the victory still more decisive had he not been over anxious about the security of the prizes. Sir John Jervis was similarly spoken of after the battle of St. Vincent; and after the battle of the Nile, the burning of several of the prizes, whose preservation would have taxed the efficiency of the fleet, appeared to Nelson a measure of very grave responsibility, as defrauding the men under his command of the money to which they were justly en-

The bitterness which frequently arose out of considerations of prize-money was undoubtedly increased by the disproportionate share of the senior officers. Of the prizes just referred to as burned at the Nile, Nelson estimated the share of the Commander-in-Chief as £3,750, of a Captain as £1,000; but a Lieutenant as £75, and of a seaman as £2 4s. 1d. In the face of such figures, it is all very well to talk of prize-money as encouraging seamen to do their duty: but its principal use was to offer great chances to the senior officers, and its real evil was the promoting jealousy and ill-will between the flag officers and even the Captains. This, however, naval officers would have been slow to acknowledge.

Give Us a Rest. Look around the reporter's table. There never was a more brilliant set of young men than that found in journalism. What becomes of them? You might as well ask for a dead mule. You don't find many of them occupying the managing editor's desks of your great dailies. Why? They rarely live to be old enough for that. They wear out their lives in a work that affords little rest. "Give us a rest." I can't tell you how you can rest, but you must rest or die. An American at forty is at most a wreck. We waste the best of our lives by burning our life-candle at both ends. Our amusements themselves are a worry. We go away on a summering, bang up and down the country, and obtain the advantages of what? Rest-of a fashionable season. I am not entirely given over to too-tooism. I always associate an æsthete with laziness, and a lazy man doesn't know what rest means. I am glad I am away from the ladies, but really I don't admire a Queen Anne chair. I know it is high art, but just think of one hundred and seventy-five pounds of muscular Christianity resting in a spindle-shanked Queen Anne chair! Then I can't say that I am in love with those new chandeliers made in imitation of a tallow dip, with a gutter of smut run down the sides! Then there are those narrow-necked jars in a Japanese cabinet, so frail that one is afraid of enjoying a hearty laugh for fear of breaking up a hundred dollars' worth of high art. Do you know I erroy seeing a man lying on the sofa! I know it's rough on the sofa, but it's the best thing in the world for the man. I often wonder when I get into a parlor filled with all the jim-eracks of restheticism, what it was all for. I like a parlor where children can turn somersaults without fear of what is coming after. High art! Somebody once told me that the covering of Scribner's Monthly was a specimen of it. I remarked that I couldn't make out just which way the snake was going. He was inclined to be offended, but all I could imagine of the design was a re- Oriental, minder of a snake crawling backward or forward, or, perhaps, a dish of vermi-celli soup on a piece of brown paper. The boy that quits his public school or his college ought to be induced, or flogged. if need be, to prevent him from at once going into a business life. Let him spend his time on a farm. I don't know how it is, but in every place I've been true American labor was dying out. I went into a prayer-meeting in Maine the other day (they go to prayer-meetings in Maine yet), and they were singing "There Is Rest for the Weary," and, American-like, they place that haven of rest "beyond the Jordan." Nations have passed off the face of the earth by disregarding lesser laws than that of American restlessness .- From A. W. Tourgee's Lecture on Rest.

The Office Should Seek the Man. Nothing is more natural, nothing more admirable, than the aspiration of good which the highestmarket price will be paid at the market on the bridge R J. ROONEY.

and capable men to lead men and to govern great States. But honorable objects must be honorably sought. A man jects must be honorably sought. A man with a true political ambition, with the instinct of leadership, advocates wise measures, and, by the power which belongs to the instinct, impresses his views upon the minds of others. He leads by natural ascendency, and they naturally and gladly follow. So Washington led. So Jay was a leader. But the modern system of a "still hunt," of private, illigit industries the state of the s illicit influence upon those whose votes elect to high place, of mousing intrigue, or bargain and barter and corruption, is not only dishonorable, but it is destructernment. The majority must rule. But only an honest majority can rule justly. To open head-quarters at a capital in order to procure votes, not by personal preference founded upon knowledge of character and of a career, but by private solicitation and representation and trade, and so to secure a majority, is to cheat the people and to caricature the popular principle. A majority so obtained is not a moral majority It is not only not binding, it is to be repudiated as a crime against the people.

What was good enough for Jay and Washington ought to be good enough for us. If they disdained to propose themselves as the choice of the people, we may safely disdain it. The current question now is, "Who is an applicant?" "Who wants it?" And the fit. Drake, or Frobisher, or Lancaster, down to the time when Commodore Wager took the great galleon, or Anson gutted the Alcapulco ship.

The stories of such times seem to the se ask. The man whose self-respect for ask. The man whose self-respect for the principle of the government prevents his "conducting his own campaign" to be elected or appointed to an office is thought to be altogether too high and mighty," and too ridiculously squeamish. "If a man won't help himself, who will help him?" is supposed to be a conclusive question in the realm of politics.—Harner's Magazine. of politics .- Harper's Magazine.

He Had Recovered His Sight.

Madame Blank was a woman remarkable for her social and tout-a fait industrial assiduity. She utilized every moment of her time in such a way as was best suited to herself. Among her many admirers and visitors she numbered one old friend who was totally blind, and whom she always entertained in her own boudoir. Oftener than not, when her pressing duties demanded a rapid change of attire, she would call in the services of her maid and proceed with her toilet, the while conversing with her blind friend, who, it is needless to say, was all unconscious of the mysterious wonders being transacted in his presence. Upon one occasion when he called he inquired whether he would be received upstairs, and sent a message to the mistress, stating that he had a piece of good news for her. "Lead Monsieur, as usual, to my boudoir," was the lady's order, which order was immediately complied with She was not en toilette for visitors, to be sure, but he could not see, and the maid was busy enough repairing the ravages of time for the benefit of those who could see. "Ah, my dear madam," exclaimed the gentleman, as he entered, "I have had a stroke of good fortune;" and he was hastening to tell her in what way when she interrupted nim with some social jottings of her own, and kept up such a stream of conversation, and was so occupied with the gleam of her white arms in the mirror, that she neither observed her friend's evident confusion nor gave him an opportunity to speak. Finally an interval came; she surned to him, expectantly, and said:
"Now, my friend, for your good news."

He lowered his head and assured her it was nothing. "Nothing!" she ex-claimed, at the same time noting his

A Pioneer's Fight with a Hog.

Fifty years ago settlers were very scarce in Bureau county, I'l., and wild hogs were plenty in the woods. A Maj. Chamberlain put up a little abin at the edge of the timber somewhere west of Hennepin, and kept "bach" one summer while improving his land. Along in the fall he went over to see some of his neighbors about Princeton, and spent several days with them. When he returned he found his cabin door open, and in the house under his bed he found an old wild boar comfortably sleeping. He tried to rout him out, when the boar made a furious charge on him with his savage tusks gleaming, and the doughty Major was forced to take refuge on the top of the bed. The dog came to the whipped him out and then champed around the perch where the Major was opportunity, and, jumpeing down, he ran out of the door. But his watchful guard was close after him and chased him round and round the house, following so closely that the Major had no time to climb up the corner logs, and as the only place of safety he at length ran back into the house and got onto the bed again. For probably an hour the hog watched him there, and then again he made a break for outdoors, pursued as before by his bristly enemy. This time he managed to get a heavy club, and turning on the boar he pounded him over the nose while the dog got in his work at the rear, and after a savage fight they whipped the hog and drove him from the field. The old Major has long since passed to his rest, but his de-scendants still live in that vicinity.

The Poet Whittier.

Mr. Whittier wrote this touching little letter to a child in Pennsylvania who asked him how he spent his days in boyhood: "Amesbury, Mass., 9th mo. 17, 1881.—My Dear Young Friend: I think at the age of which thy note in-quires I found about equal satisfaction so our old rural home, with the shifting panorama of the seasons, in reading the new books within my reach and dreaming of something wonderful and grand inmewhere in the future. Neither change nor loss had then made me realize the uncertainty of all earthly things. I felt secure in my mother's love, and dreamed of losing nothing and gaining much. Looking back now, my chief satisfaction is that I loved and obeyed my parents, and tried to make them happy by trying to be good. That I did not succeed in all respects, that I fell very far short of my good intentions, was a frequent cause of sorrow. I had at that time a very great thirst for knowledge and little means of gratifying

it. The beauty of outward nature early impressed me, and the moral and spiritual beauty of the holy lives I read of in the Bible and other good books also the Lone Star State. affected me with a sense of my own falling short and longing for a better state. With every good wish for thee, I am thy sincere friend.

A Wonderful State.

Texas is a prodigy, not only as to the extent of her territory, but in the variety of her climate, her soils and her productions. A portion of the State, double the size of New York State, is well adapted to wheat raising, producing eighteen to forty bushels to the acre, weighing sixty-two to sixty-eight pounds per bushel, and makes fine flour. Oats of fine quality, growing forty to 100 bushels to the acre; also good crops of barley are grown. All kinds of nuts and fruit can easily be grown. Wild grapes grow in the greatest profusion all over the State. Without a doubt, Texas is the natural home of the grape. Shrubs and flowers of all kinds do wondrously well; roses bloom ten months rescue of his master, but the boar soon of the year. Vegetables of all kinds do exlremely well; 300 to 500 bushels of the finest Irish potatoes: large crops of trying to keep out of his reach. After a the best sweet potatoes; beans, peas, long siege the Major thought he saw his beets, turnips, onions, cabbages, lettuce, celery, etc., etc., all do well. Large crops of finely-flavored tobacco can readily be grown, A portion of her territory, 150 to miles wide and 400 miles long, is especially adapted to stock raising, where a beef can be grown at a cost not exceeding $8. The average profit of sheep raising is fully 331 per cent., and in many cases yields 50 per cent. A horse can be grown for $10. There are large profits in the goat, especially the Angora. Hogs produce enormously, and cost almost nothing to raise, as the mast is virtually inexhaustible. It must be remembered that stock are not housed, or fed at all, merely herded, and allowed to graze, winter and summer. Texas has a belt of territory, 300 miles square, that is as good a cotton country as there is on the globe, and could, if tilled, supply the entire world with her necessary cotton. She has a large sugar belt that produces cane, ten to twelve feet in neight, full of saccharine matter, and yields large returns of sugar. The railway system of the State is extended, and is being made most complete, and each day is adding largely to the mileage. Connection is now made at Lare-do with the system of roads into Mexico, and at El Paso with the Southern Pacific to San Francisco, thus making Texas the great highway for the immense traffic of the Pacific coast, Arizo na, New Mexico and all of old Mexico Her southern border being washed by the Gulf of Mexico insures cheap transportation for all time to all parts of the world. Her school system is liberally endowed, and churches prosper in all parts of the State. Her climate, being tempered by the sea breeze, is equable, pleasant and healthful, and one can work out of doors twelve months of the year without harm. Land is cheap and taxes low. All kinds of labor are in demand. Emigration is pouring into the State, and her citizens feel that few. if any, have a brighter future than has

An Ingenious Swindle.

A pair of swindiers played off in Paris the following ingenious trick: A welldressed man entered a tobaccoist's shop on the Boulevard Bonno Nouvelle, and after purchasing three cigars gave a fivefranc gold piece in payment; but after receiving his change he declared that it was a twenty-franc piece which he had given, and on the woman who had served him asserting the contrary, he added that it was a piece of the reign of Louis Phillippe, bearing the date of 1846; the shopkeeper then looked among the gold in her till, and finding a gold coin such as described supposed she had been mistaken, and at once gave him the difference. A police agent in plain clothes happened however to be standing by, and having his suspicious excited. de-termined to follow the stranger. He presently saw the individual join another man in the street, and the two went together to the Place de la Bourse, where they separated, and the second entered a tobacconist's, and after making a small purchase gave in payment the identical twenty-franc piece received at the other shop. The confederate shortly after went in, and was repeating the same stratagem as before, when the police officer stepped forward and arrested him.

Visible Improvement.

Mr. Noah Bates, Elmira, N. X., writes: About four years ago I had an atack of billious fever, and never fully recovered. My digestive organs were weakened and I would be completely prostrated for days. After using two bottles of your Burdock Blood Bitters the improvement was so visible that I was astonished. I can now, though 61 years of age, do a fair and reasonable day's work." Price $1.00. Sold by A. J Roberts and Sherer & Co.

Teutonic Jokes.

A collection of jokes, conscious and the reverse, perpetrated in the German Parliament, has recently been published Janesville. Wis, by "Ancelmus Factus" in Berlin. The collection ranges from 1867 to the present time, and if the quibs and cranks it contains do not always seem to be unreasonably waggish, they are at all events interesting as indicating the German idea of a joke. A portion of the collection consists of the naive, and sometimes oddly inconsequential, remarks of inexperienced members. Thus Dr. Schwartze observed on one occasion that "he had great pleasure in saying that the motives of this proposal, though unknown to him, were yet fully in accordance with his views;" and Herr Von Viacke expressed his agreement with a previous speaker to this effect: "I think just as he does in this matter; I am exactly in the position in which I am." Similarly, Dr. Ellissen once oracularly remarked a "The proposal of the honorable member has either no meaning or it has a ber has either no meaning or it has a meaning." On the other hand we should probably be mistaken if we ascribed a remark of one Herr Schraps to mere naivete or confusion of tongue. "I have supported," said Herr Schraps, "Dr. Reineke's proposal, and will vote for it, but shall be very much pleased, nevertheless, if the House rejects it." The jokes which are undoubtedly intentional are sometimes rather grim. Thus, Herr Dedecker, discussing a proposal for the complete insolation of cholera patients, doubted "whether it would not be a surer preventive to kill off the first cholera patients at once; but we have hardly come to that yet." There is a certain humor, too, of a melancho! sort, in the phrase of Dr. Schweitzer: "We believe in a country where the police are always with us, before us, and behind us, and in our midst."—Pau Mall Gazette.

A POPULAR TONIC

No preparation ever introduced to the American public, for the relief and cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat Debilitated Constitutions, Weakness of the Hungs, or Consumption in the incipient or advanced stages of the disease, has ever met with the indorsements of physicians or patients as the celebrated "Tolu, Rock and Rye." The repeated and continued sales of the article everywhere are the best evidence of its real merits. Letters and testimonials from every quarter of the country, attesting the stimulating, tonic and healing effects, are in possession of the proprietors, and can be adduced to convince the most skeptical reader of its intrinsic virtues. Further commendation is unnecessary and superfluous, as a trial of this article, having a pleasant taste and agreeable flavor, will satisfy all those who are afflicted or pining away with pulmonary weakness of the relief to be secured by the use of Tolu, Rock and Rye.—Chicago For Weak Lungs and Consumption

That Marvel of Successes.

Considerable interest is manifested in Janesville in the approaching engagement of "Hazel Kirke," of the Madison Square (New York) company, which takes place to-morrow evening, at Myers' Opera house. That it will be well attended there is no doubt. It is one of those pe. culiar comedy-dramas that has a powerful hold on the people. It awakens the deepest sympathy in every audience, and produces laughter and tears in quick succession. It is the only drama upon the stage that takes hold of the hearts of all classes of people.

Mr. Keene as Macbeth.

When Mr. Thomas W. Keene appeared in Janesville a little over one year ago first as Richard the Third and the second night following as Hamlet, his fame had preceded him. He was greeted with as fine an audience in numbers and intelligence as ever welcomed a tragedian in this city. The scenes on the two nights in March one year ago had not been forgotten, and when Mr. Keene was announced for Macbeth in Janesville, there was a rush for seats, and again he was greeted by a full house, and though not very demonstrative, it was nevertheless appreciative, and enjoyed with intense satisfaction the acting of the eminent tragedian. The representation last night of that historic character whom Shakespeare has mingled with such a mighty piece of tragedy, was one of the best that can be given by our American actors. Mr. Keene has a strikingly real conception of the barbarous chieftain' and all through the play he never loses the individuality which belongs to Macbeth. From beginning to end he displayed remarkable powers, especially immediately preceding and following the murder of Duncan. A Janesville audience can now see why the fame of Mr. Keene is spreading all over the land, and why theatre's are packed to hear him. He is a genius, a man of great power, a close student, one who cannot be intoxicated by the praise from the press nor the applause from the people, and right onward he goes, each year acting better, winning new conquests, and reaching to the front and standing in line with Booth, McCullough, and Barrett. He fires the popular heart, and finds crowded houses of admirers wherever he goes. Miss Octavia Allen did the part of Lady Macbeth "excellently well.". She not only has a good voice, but her acting was a highly finished piece of personation.
